COLLECTIONS 6th January £327.70 Justice & Peace £373.40

FORTHCOMING COLLECTIONS: Survive-MIVA – providing transport for missionaries, 26th/27th January.

St Nicholas Care fund / Pastoral Care Trust Boxes – This is the last weekend for returning these boxes – the money will be totalled this week.

200 Club – Congratulations to Megan Byrne (£100); Abby McNeil (£50); Debbie Henry (£25); and Sylvia Hogan (£25). If you want your name here next month you'll need to join!

St Mungo – Monday is the feast of the patron saint of our city. Please pray for his intercession that Glasgow may flourish by the preaching of God’s Word.

Church Heating – Thankfully the patron saint of plumbing supplies has smiled upon us, and we have managed to find the missing spare part allowing us to fix the boiler. The church should now be back to its old warmth! This is a great thing, and solves our immediate problem, but our boiler is still obsolete and we still need to look at replacing it. The work to obtain quotes is underway, but hopefully we will now have some time to plan things and raise funds rather than having to rush into it. In other building news, we have a couple of leaks in the house roof and so you might see some roofers up on the roof during the week.

Crib – will be taken down after this weekend, so please don’t miss your last chance to pray there. Thank you for your generous donations to the St Margaret’s Adoption Society at the crib – if you took one of their boxes please return it now.

Newman Association: “Ordered Freedom from Chaos – Education in the Holy Land”. A talk by Professor Bart McGettrick. The Ogilvie Centre, St Aloysius’ Church, Rose Street, Glasgow, G3 6RE. 7.30pm. Thursday 31st January. All welcome. Admission £3 (includes refreshments).

Funeral: James Lavery’s funeral takes place on Monday 14th January at 9.30am, with the Reception of his Remains at 6.30pm on Sunday 13th January. The family have invited Canon McAuley, the parish priest of St Brendan’s, James’s parish, to celebrate the funeral.
